Job Description

The primary responsibility of a Community Education Instructor is to be able to convey their expertise for their subject in an effective manner. As potential Community Education Instructors, you are expected to have strong communication skills and have significant experience with the topic described in your Course Proposal Form. Qualities for successful instructors include the desire to share their subject and excellent presentation skills. Community Education courses are designed to appeal to the diverse interests and needs of lifelong learners.

Course Materials

Any materials, supplies, equipment, and/or copies that are needed for your class must be approved by the Community Education Coordinator or Director prior to the course being listed in the printed schedule. Audio visual equipment must be requested and approved by the coordinator in advance of course scheduling. The Saydel Community School District assumes no liability in connection with the use, loss or damage of personal equipment. Such equipment may not be stored in district buildings.

Course Fees

Upon application to offer a course or activity, the applicant is asked to include a preferred fee structure for the event. Pending final approval of the Community Education Advisory Committee, the final course fees and tuition are approved by the Director of Community Education. The Director may consult with instructors. A number of factors including coordinator time and expense, course material expense, facility needs, and miscellaneous costs are used to calculate the cost per student for each course. The program depends entirely on fees collected from registrations to cover administrative and marketing costs. It is important that course titles and descriptions are clear, concise and enticing enough to encourage class participation. Courses with insufficient registrations will be cancelled. It is the expectation of the Community Education Department that course expenditures will be offset by course revenues.
